

Search Airport Parking Launches Park Sleep and Fly Web Site

BRIDGEWATER, N.J., Jan. 3, 2011 (PRESS RELEASE) -- Search Airport Parking announced this week that SearchParkSleepFly.com was launched in December 2010 as a resource for travelers and airport hotel operators as well as a compliment to its existing SearchAirportParking.com web site. SearchParkSleepFly.com will include a directory of the top airports in the United States and Canada with airport information and information on hotels that offer Park Sleep and Fly Hotel Packages.

Park Sleep and Fly Hotel Packages are an alternative to Airport Long Term Parking. The traveler checks into a hotel near the airport the day before their flight and goes to the airport the next day on the airport hotel shuttle. When the traveler returns, they call for the hotel airport shuttle and are brought back to the hotel where they pick up their car. Park Sleep and Fly is a great option for a traveler that has an early morning flight, a distance to travel to the airport, or a concern about traffic delays on the way to the airport. Also, Park Sleep and Fly Hotel Packages are competitive with airport parking rates and the packages are often priced less than the equivalent price for parking at an on-airport parking lot.

The SearchParkSleepFly.com airport directory currently includes 6 airports and information on over 20 airport hotels that offer Park Sleep and Fly Packages. Over the next couple months airports and hotels will be added to the directory weekly. Currently the airport directory includes Toronto Pearson (YYZ), Atlanta (ATL), Chicago O'Hare (ORD), Los Angeles (LAX) and John F Kennedy (JFK). Customers can even recommend an airport or hotel to Search Airport Parking for addition to the directory.

Search Airport Parking's philosophy is that travelers tend to do a lot of research on their destinations, but are not prepared for their departure airport. Both SearchAirportParking.com and SearchParkSleepFly.com include information on airport transportation, terminals, directions, and airport parking all in one place so the traveler can be just as prepared for arriving at their departure airport as they are when they get to their destination.

Search Airport Parking also offers services to the airport parking and hotel professional. For hotel and parking operators, Search Airport Parking can setup Featured Listings, which are customized pages with their specific parking information that are linked to the airport directory. Reservation forms can also be setup so parking operators can get customer reservations in their email inbox.

About Search Airport Parking

In 2010, Search Airport Parking was founded to provide informative web resources for travelers and travel service operators. The two web sites managed by Search Airport Parking. SearchAirportParking.com and SearchParkSleepFly.com, include an airport directory that pulls together information on airport transportation, terminals, directions, and airport parking into one place so travelers are just as prepared when they get to the departure airport as they are when they arrive at their destination. Search Airport Parking offers advertising, reservations, and sponsor listing options to travel service operators.
